Stunning new look office after just 1 weekend

Who did Turner & Townsend turn to when they wanted to give one of their prestigious 4,500 sq ft Grade A offices a facelift? RFM Group was the answer. We were chosen to deliver the refurbishment works to the Anchorage Quay site within the impressive Salford Quays development in Manchester.

The project required RFM Group to carry out refurbishment works outside of normal business hours, ensuring no impact at all on Turner & Townsend and it's staff. The project demanded the coordination of a high volume of staff to complete the project in only 48 hours.

Firstly RFM orchestrated the dismantling and safe legal disposal of surplus office furniture. Once this was completed our highly skilled and experienced painting and decorating division carried out a full décor overhaul to the offices. As this was being carried out, our flooring division replaced the flooring within the canteen area from a highly soiled and dull carpet to a fresh new anti-slip vinyl. The next phase of the project was to deliver a complex office move adhering to the plans given by Turner & Townsend. A team of experienced cleaners then completed a full sparkle clean to the site. The final phase was to carry out a complete carpet clean using hot water extraction and rotary machine methods to make the carpets look like new.

Turner & Townsend were then handed their offices back after over 260 man hours were worked over one weekend, highlighting the factor of quality project management. The stunning new look office boosted the morale of the staff throughout the office.
